Visiting students are considered to be all students and/or university graduates accepted for the purpose of studying parts of courses taught at the University of Lleida. These studies are subject to different regulations to those that apply to official courses.

Applications for admission should be submitted to the International Relations Office, and will be dealt with by each school or by the director of the corresponding doctoral programme.

Visiting students will be awarded a certificate for the courses completed at the University of Lleida in which their period of stay, the courses studied and the qualifications obtained will be accredited. However, it will also be stated that these studies are not officially recognised by the University of Lleida.
